Something must not have gone as planned on the A2A database update. I will pass this along.

Sorry about that! Something must be wrong with my phone, as I opened this email and somehow forwarded you another. Below is the issue with the database.
Thanks,
Kristen

Hello Kristen,

I wanted to email you to inform you of an ATA issue that just came about this morning. I logged in to add a new client and noticed that there are now only three clients shown. I cannot see any of the other clients that I know are in the database. I also dropped down the menu to select a worker to search by and no workers are listed. I had Denise log in to see if she could see anything and she received an error message when she tried to see her clients. As of Tuesday, ATA was working fine.

Thanks.
